Homecoming and Cornerstone Laying Saturday

BUFFALOES TO MEET LOBOES CHAMP GAME

Both Undefeated in the T. I. A. A. Conference.

GAME SATURDAY P M

Former Buff Star Coach of the Visiting Team.

"The Last Down" is the name given the program-magazine for the Homecoming game at Canyon Saturday, Nov. 5, when the West Texas Buffaloes, coached by "Sad Sam" Burton and his assistants, J. C. Crump and "Bulldog" Jones, will be pitted against the Sul Ross Loboes, coached by B. C. Graves, quarterback for the Buffs in 1922 and later a student of Pop Warner of Stanford, and his assistant Coach Duncan, in the last T. I. A. A. game to be played in Canyon. The T. I. A. A. will be abandoned at the close of this football season.

In this program will be a brief history of the T. I. A. A. in football, giving the champions for each year since 1909—there will also be a rather incomplete summary of the T. I. A. A. basketball as well as the T. I. A. A. records in track up to date.

The starting line up for each team will also be given. This program will be a real souvenir for the fan, and will give him a complete record of the oldest athletic association in the entire Southwest.

From the time of its organization in 1902 to the present, the T. I. A. A. has had as members, all the senior colleges of Texas with the exception of Texas Tech and the College of Mines. There has been 22 in all who have at one time or another been members of this organization.

Each of these schools have been requested to send a representative to Canyon on Nov. 5 to participate in the festivities of the Homecoming game.

The Buffaloes have won three conference games, so far this season and have not been scored on in conference play. The Loboes have won two games and also have a perfect standing in conference play. This game may be for the T. I. A. A. championship for 1932, the last year of the association's existence.

Clothing Committee Has Little Response From City's Canvass

A very material decrease in the amount of clothing donated by the citizens of Canyon was the result of the clothing committee's canvass completed last week, is the report being made for the Community Chest. The total number of garments is only about one-third that received in other years. As a result of the small amount of clothes on hand, it is feared that not all needy cases may be cared for during the winter unless the present supply is greatly augmented.

The fact that so many people have given their used clothes to people whom they knew to be in needy circumstances may reduce the number which the community has had to clothe in the past, it is stated.

The Community Chest calls upon any who may have been missed in the canvass to bring any clothing they may have to contribute to the court house, as every garment will be needed through the winter, judging from the early calls and the needs which are known to exist.

DENTISTS IN BANQUET FAVOR O. BULLINGTON

Drs. S. L. Ingham and E. J. Cundiff attended a banquet of the Amarillo Dental Society in Amarillo Tuesday night.

Of the 20 dentists present, all but one favored the election of Orville Bullington as Governor of Texas. Seven voted for President Hoover and 13 favored Roosevelt.

General Election to be Held Nov. 8th

Speaks Here Saturday

ORVILLE BULLINGTON
Republican candidate for Governor who will speak in Canyon Saturday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock.

Orville Bullington to Speak Here Saturday at 5 O'clock

Orville Bullington, candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket, will speak at the court house Saturday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock. Mr. Bullington is from Wichita Falls and is well known by many citizens of Canyon as an outstanding lawyer and public spirited citizen. He is making a strenuous campaign, speaking against Fergusonism in Texas rather than seeking election as a member of the Republican party.

Mayor C. R. Burrow will introduce Mr. Bullington when he speaks here Saturday. The voters of the county are invited to hear the talk of Mr. Bullington.

J. L. Hefner Died Tuesday; Funeral Is Held Yesterday

James Levi Hefner died suddenly at his home Tuesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. He had been down town during the day, and had not complained of being ill, although he has not enjoyed good health for a number of months. The funeral service was held yesterday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock at the Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. J. H. Hicks, assisted by Rev. B. F. Fronabarger.

The Hefner family moved to Canyon eight years ago from Silverton which had been their home for many years. He was born in Georgia, May 19, 1865.

Surviving the deceased is his wife, Mrs. J. L. Hefner, and six children, Mrs. F. E. Smith of Canyon; Mrs. Jay Prichard of Canyon; Mrs. N. T. Dickerson of Canyon; Mrs. Mack Elliott of Tulia; Mrs. Harry Inman of Happy; O. B. Hefner of Crosbyton; and his mother, Mrs. L. L. Hefner of Canyon, who is 92 years of age.

Hereford-Eagle Game Friday Not Conference One

While great interest is being shown in the Canyon-Hereford football game to be played at Buffalo field Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, this is not a conference game. The two teams will play the conference game at Hereford on Nov. 19th.

It is expected that a large number of fans from Hereford, including the band, will accompany the White Face team here tomorrow.

NEW MEAT MARKET IS OPENED HERE MONDAY

A new meat market was opened Monday in the building with the M System grocery store and will be known as the Money Market. The new concern will be operated by Bill Money and C. C. Stidham.

Mr. Money is well known in Canyon and Mr. Stidham has been in the market business in the city for the past 1½ years.

Will Name President, as Well as Governor and Others.

The general election will be held on next Tuesday, November 8th. At this time officials will be named including the President of the United States, Governor of Texas, and various state, district, county and precinct officers. It is predicted that a very heavy vote will be cast all over the nation, and that Texas will cast a record vote owing to the interest being shown in the race for Governor between Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and Orville Bullington.

The News will not receive election returns this year, as frequent bulletins will be announced over the radio as to important returns in the various races. The only interest in Texas will be that of the Governor's race, and the fate of the nine constitutional amendments which are printed at the bottom of the election tickets. It will likely be several days before adequate returns will determine whether these amendments have passed.

There will be only one voting place in Canyon this year, at the court house, with A. M. Smith as judge.

The following will be the judges in the other precincts:

No. 2, J. J. Leavitt.
No. 3, D. S. Hill.
No. 4, E. N. Zachery.
No. 5, John Ladehoff.
No. 6, Glen Costley.
No. 7, Geo. Mason.
No. 8. W. P. Jensen.
No. 9, J. G. Ridings.
No. 13, G. W. Rose.

GIVE PROGRAM

Mr. and Mrs. John Josey of Amarillo were present at the College at the chapel hour Tuesday and presented a varied program of piano and violin numbers. Mr. Josey has charge of the music at the First Baptist church in Amarillo.

Carruth Addresses W. T. Exes

On next Saturday, November fifth, the citizens of Canyon and the College will have the pleasure of honoring hundreds of Ex-Students from all parts of West Texas. The former students of W. T. are returning to their Alma Mater and to visit with old friends of former days that live in Canyon. They shall be our guests "extra-ordinary" and it behooves those of us who live in Canyon to do everything possible to make these friends feel at home. We shall do this because we appreciate the Ex-Students and know full well what they mean, and have meant, to Canyon and to the College.

The local Exes are requesting the citizens of Canyon to open their homes and boarding houses to these people in order that a true spirit of hospitality may be shown to those who return. Many citizens have requested that former friends among the Ex-Students be sent to their homes for free lodging and meal Saturday night. This shows a wonderful spirit of hospitality and many more will doubtless want to do the same. All those who would like to make some Ex-Students "feel at home" should call either the Dean of Men or Women at the College by Saturday noon.

In as much as both Ex-Students and members of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society will be guests of our little city Saturday another very fine gesture of hospitality would be to furnish courtesy cars for those who will need transportation during the day. Citizens who can make this contribution to the day's success should call W. D. Matteer, at the Demonstration School.

IRBY CARRUTH, President W. T. Exes.

Cloth Received by Red Cross Chapter for Children Clothes

A committee composed of Dr. D. M. Stewart, chairman of the Red Cross Committee, Mrs. H. O. Price and Mrs. T. C. Thompson met Thursday to measure and inspect the first shipment of government relief cloth, consisting of 500 yards of muslin and 200 yards of outing flannel.

Patterns have been ordered and as soon as they arrive, ladies of the Women's Federated Clubs will meet and cut the garments as instructed by the government bulletin. This work will all be donated and those who cannot cut, can roll and mark garments.

Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Price will supervise the cutting of all material. The sewing will be done by the people who receive the cut garments.

Material will not be delivered to children. Parents will be required to come and sign a receipt on receiving either new or used garments. No family will be allowed more than 20 yards of new material. These are the strict government orders. The distributing committee will name certain days to distribute this material, both used and new. Teachers in rural schools can be of great help in this work by communicating with this committee about children needing clothing, as children will be provided for first.

It is the wish of the committee that every one co-operate. They wish to thank those who helped with the work Thursday afternoon: Burrow Lumber Company furnished plank for the tables; Thompson Hardware furnished a truck and man; Mr. Upchurch and Mr. Myers helped with the unpacking and storing away the cloth; and Warwick Printing Company printed the receipt books without charge.

Miss Gladys Beavers spent Sunday visiting with relatives in Hereford.

Many citizens wonder why it is that the state government has been called to such an expense in order to pass legislation regarding the oil situation, and why the necessity of another special session of the legislature at a time when the economic stress is so severe. To the average citizen there is a thought perhaps that the oil business is like any other business, which should stand upon its own merits during economic pressure. This is far from the truth. Oil is a natural resource from which the state receives a direct tax upon the value of the product as it is taken from the ground. If the production is not held down in order to insure a reasonable price for the oil, the state loses a great deal of revenue. Furthermore, unless there is an orderly and restrained development of the oil field, a large percent of the oil stored in the ground is wasted, and never recovered. It is stated that fully one-half of the potential output of the Wink field was lost because of unrestrained drilling and unscientific methods used in the field. With the fall of proration under the case tried in federal court, the state can afford to go to any reasonable expense to cure the defects of the present law in order to save the East Texas field which was going the same way as the Wink field through haphazard drilling and producing methods. The state, and all of the taxpayers of the state, are vitally interested in securing all of the oil possible, as the tax on this product amounts to millions of dollars to the state.

Without doubt the extension of the $3,000 homestead exemption to the Canyon school would cut the school term at least half in two, should the amendment be adopted and should it be made to apply to the school districts, as many good lawyers are certain that it would be. Just to save a small amount of state tax, as it looks now like the amendment will carry. There is not a parent in Texas who wishes to see his child deprived of an adequate education, yet with the promise of saving a maximum of $20.70 annually, he will go to the polls and vote for a measure which is held in question, and which if applied as so many lawyers believe it wil lapply, will wreck not only the school system, but all the city and county governments. A vote against this amendment is the only safe thing to do under the circumstances.

The trouble with the Ferguson campaign right now is the fact that Jim is on the defense, and he is a poor defensive fighter. All of his battles have been offensive, and Jim is aggressive by nature. His only great plea to the voters is to stay with the ticket, whereas Jim has set the example for the bolters, which they refuse to forget. Furthermore, in the national campaign, Roosevelt is appealing to bolters, and has the endorsement of Senators Hiram Johnson, LaFollette and Norris, all of whom have left the Republican party to follow the emblem of Democracy against their own leaders. This is going to be a bolting year, the greatest perhaps in the history of America, when voters will throw aside party prejudices, and vote for measures rather than mere leaders.

While there is a great howl going up against the school system of Texas, from the grades to the University, please consider that when the bars of education are lowered, more bars for prisons must be erected. Education must be paid for by the people; and if they refuse to pay for education they will pay for the lack of education in building more prisons, and pay for inefficiency on the part of the future generation. Yes, education comes high, sometimes more than the taxpayer is hardly able to stand, but we will pay for it whether we give it to the children or not. It is better that we pay for education and give it to the children, than to pay for it through the by-products connected with the lack of education.

Why was Al Smith cut off from the national broadcast of the radio? All arrangements were made for a national hook-up, and were cancelled at the last minute. The supposition is that the liquor proposal of Smith would drive out of the Democratic party the dry votes of the West, and the national leaders did not wish to have drys listen in on Smith's speech. It is believed that Smith is still a little jealous of Roosevelt, and is not too enthusiastic in his support of the national ticket. He is determined to make the liquor question supreme in the campaign regardless of the ideas of Roosevelt, or the chances of the party to win with the liquor question in prominence.

Wheat went to the lowest point in the history of the Chicago market on Saturday. Reports from South America with prospects of a good crop drove the price downward. The foreign trade of America has been ruined by the high tariff walls built by the Republican party, manufactured articles being protected against the cheap labor of other governments, while the farmer must meet the competition of the world. It is no wonder that Republican leaders admit that the normally Republican middle west will go Democratic this year, considering the plight of the farmers, while the manufacturing east will likely stay with the Republicans.

There would not be left a single business house in Canyon if all of our people did like many of our business people do—buy everything out of town. Trading at home is as much a necessity on the part of business men as it is on the part of the citizens of Canyon. Every dollar that is sent away from this city is forever taken from the avenues of trade in the community. The little savings, if any there may be, derived from sending away from home for articles which may be purchased in Canyon, is far less to the citizens and to the business man in particular than the benefits he would derive in keeping the money circulating in the city. Let's buy at home.

That sure is going to be some game at Buffalo Park Saturday afternoon when the championship of the T. I. A. A. is decided. The Buffs will play the best game of the year; the Sul Ross Loboes are coming determined to win. The exes will be here several hundred strong; the pioneers will be on the sidelines, comparing the Buffalo fight with those of the killing and skinning days of Billy Dixon and his buffalo hunters of the 70's. It will be a colorful crowd, a great football game, and an event worthy of attendance on the part of every Canyon citizen. Be there.

The depression is over. Hoover said so the other night. Folks were probably greatly surprised to find that the President had discovered that the depression ended July 1st. Ask the farmer, who is selling his produce below cost; ask the business man who is still doing business at a loss; ask the eleven million unemployed, and they will probably tell you that the depression is still on.

The general election will be held next Tuesday, November 8th. Only 60 per cent of the qualified voters in America go to the polls in general elections. This is a bad omen of the ability of the voters for self government. However, this question is not so much merely that of going to the polls and casting a vote, but that this vote should be an intelligent one. Vote an understanding vote, for the betterment fo America, and her institutions.

The reason why the mothers of America are not elated over the prospects of breaking down the liquor laws is that they too well recall the ragged, hungry children of drunken sots who forced their wives to labor over the wash tub to provide a little money for them to squander in buying cheap liquors. Those pictures are not easily forgotten.

President Hoover is making a strenuous campaign during the closing days before election. There has never been another president seeking re-election who has been forced to make such a strenuous campaign as has President Hoover.

"You must give up staying out late at night," said the doctor.

"You think the night air is bad for me, doctor?"

"No," said the doctor, "it isn't that. It's the excitement after getting home that harms you."—Line-ings.

GIVING BOSSY THE WORKS

The farmer's rosy-cheeked, bobbed haired daughter came striding along the lane from the farmhouse. She was clad in grimy overalls; from the pockets bulged bunches of cotton waste and sundry tools. One hand carried a bag of tools, the other a wrench.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?" jokingly asked the squire's son, who met her.

"I'm going a-milking, sir," she said.

The squire's son looked surprised.

"But the tools—what are they for?" he asked.

"Trouble," sighed the girl, "with that dashed new milking machine that father has just installed in the cowshed."—Young Men.

Only 12 per cent of American men sing, declares a musical publication. But maybe the days of "Sweet Adeline" are about to return again and then the percentage will be considerably increased.

Two Lion Hunts—But Only One Successful

News in Canyon 25 Years Ago

(From the files of the Canyon City News, November 1, 1907)

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Lester returned Saturday from a long visit to Plainview.

J. M. Cooper and family will leave us this week or next for Lake Arthur, New Mexico.

The next meeting of the Woman's Book Club will be on Wednesday, Nov. 13, at 4 p. m. at the home of Mrs. S. L. Ingham.

Dr. W. S. Grimes of Wapello, Iowa, is here visiting his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Ingham. He arrived Saturday and departed for home yesterday.

Dr. Black on Monday bought from Judge J. M. Vansant his residence and acreage property north of the railroad at $2500 cash. This is a nicely improved place and a bargain at the price.

The Big Majestic Walking Cake was baked, crushed down by ladies as advertised, rose up as promised and then cut and distributed to an admiring audience at the Thompson Hardware store yesterday evening. The News Missouri reporter, present to get the full particulars, became so infatuated with the scene generally and the inspiring beauty of some of the young ladies present that the only details he succeeded in returning with to this office was a good slice of the cake in question. It was good.

J. H. Jowel has purchased the interest of J. M. Gorman in the King and Gorman grocery and from now on the business will be conducted under the firm name of King & Jowell.

I. W. McClure has engaged himself to build a residence for John Vonholt, an Iowa man, who owns 100 acres four miles southwest of town.

W. H. Hicks, who left Thursday of last week for the State Fair at Dallas, returned home Sunday. He says the Fair is well worth going to if the bigger part which he had not time to take in is in keeping with what he did see.

Atlas may have carried the world on his shoulders, but today he'd probably hire a taxicab.

Old-Time Bike Champion

This is not a tintype of a gay blade of the '90s out for a spin. It's a picture of Edward A. McDuffee of Monmouth Beach, N. J., 1899 world champion wheelman, doing his stuff on one of the old free-wheelers. Some of McDuffee's records still stand in races from one-quarter mile to 30 miles. The above exhibition of McDuffee's biking prowess took place at the Annual Reunion of the Veteran Wheelmen's Association at Gwynedd, Pa.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday is our last Sabbath before Conference. I wonder if we have all done our best. I am sure I have not, though I have tried to be faithful to every trust and to present the program of our church in an intelligent way. I am deeply grieved over our failure to meet our obligation on Benevolences. Many will suffer because of it. Every department of our great Southern Methodism will feel the shock of it, and yet I know that there are many who would but cannot. Let those who can make a great sacrifice to help with it.

Our four years in Canyon have been most happy and profitable to us. We shall always look back to the time when we served the church and the people here. Sunday evening at 8 o'clock will in all probability be our last time to speak to the people of Canyon as pastor. We would appreciate seeing you there and having a last word with you.

C. E. Jameson, Pastor.

TO BE USED IN W. T. DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SPEAKING.

C. W. Batchelder, professor of public speaking in W. T. S. T. C. is using in his speech classes this year a combination text and work book of which he is the author.

The title of the book is "Practical Speech Units" and has been in the process of preparation by Mr. Batchelder ever since the fall of 1931. Mr. Batchelder gathered the material for the book largely from experiments and surveys made with his speech classes in the past. It is divided into three major divisions, Units in Voice, Units in Platform Deportment, and Units in Extemporaneous Speech.

Dr. R. P. Jarrett, W. T. Dean, states, after having carefully read the book, that it is an outstanding contribution to the field of speech education. Dr. Jarrett is reviewing the work for education periodicals.

Mr. Batchelder's work will very probably go into the hands of the publishers as soon as he has enlarged its scope to more nearly include the entire field of public speaking.

November Time To Get Garden Spots Cleaned

The increased interest in gardens by a great number of people who have not been in the habit of taking the gardening part of farming very seriously seems to justify a little more thought being given to gardens in Randall County. The little job is the one most likely to be neglected on most farms; yet the little job is often the most important.

November is an important month on the garden calendar. Some things should be done this month that are generally neglected.

We spend a great deal of money and energy in providing the necessary machinery and labor for producing a wheat crop and very little attention is paid to the proper methods and equipment for the garden, yet who can say that the gardens of the country are not more important than the wheat crop in these times of low prices.

One of the jobs that should be done in November is to clean up and burn the trash in and around the garden that furnish such fine winter homes for bugs. If a mulch is desired for such crops as asparagus or rhubarb this should be hauled in after all the trash around the garden has been burned and after there has been some freezing. If all the bugs' winter quarters were destroyed and the proper equipment for control measures was on hand early in the spring before damage starts, the control of insects in gardens in Randall county would be very much easier.

The next most important job that should be done in November is to plow the garden good and deep, leaving the surface rough for the winter. The winter frost will help to put the soil in good condition for holding moisture and for early starting of all plants. This treatment will help to control insects. If the garden plot is listed later in the winter it will be all the better. Soil that is left flat are bare in the fall to harden over winter is not in the best condition for early spring crops.

Lorado Taft Is Lyceum Offering For November 19

Laredo Taft, distinguished artist, sculptor, critic, and lecturer, will be here on the Student Activity lyceum program Saturday, November 19, according to Wallace R. Clark, lyceum chairman.

VOLUNTEER WHEAT BAD.

State Representative Clyde W. Warwick was invited this morning to speak over KGRS at 7:00 o'clock this evening, discussing the nine constitutional amendments which will be voted upon next Tuesday.

Major Yeats-Brown A Colorful Figure of Mystic Orient

Major Francis Yeats-Brown, brilliant soldier, author, and lecturer, will speak here as a lyceum attraction on November 7. This promises to be one of the best numbers of the year.

This young Englishman with a tremendous gusto for living, Major Yeats-Brown, is the kind of man to whom things happen. Like Kipling's heroes he is a soldier, mystic, and hunter, and a connoisseur of human nature. When he adventures in native cities, disguised, it has the authenticity of Arabian Nights. When he plays polo, the game becomes an epic. When he flies above a Turkish battle in Mesopotamia the scene is more vivid than reality to lesser imaginations.

When he chooses the way and becomes a Yogi, pursuing strange but impressive Hindu pundits in search of truth, the incongruity becomes convincing because he is sincere and convincing. He is a restless soul in still more restless flesh. It is to be doubted if there is another man from the Western World who has had his experiences. And we are told that the climax to this good fortune is that he can relate his experiences in a most fascinating manner—as all who have read his books can testify

Studied Yogi Philosophy

Major Francis Yeats-Brown is one of the very few men of the Western World who has studied the "Yogi" as a native Hindu would study it. For years he lived as an Indian Native, he traveled tens of thousands of miles in that vast country, and, like any disciple, learned at the feet of the learned and holy men of India. In his address here, he will tell some of their interesting experiences.

After the Great War, Major Yeats-Brown retired from the Army and entered newspaper work. He traveled widely in Europe, Canada, and the United States. In 1925, he became Assistant Editor of "The Spectator." Now he is writing books, articles, and lecturing.

He is much in demand in England as a speaker, and is certain to captivate his American audiences with his vivid and colorful personality and the rich, and unusual material in his lectures. A born story-teller, Major Yeats-Brown fascinates his audience; his own personality is most amazing, and unique which adds much that cold type cannot possibly give.

This lecture will be presented at 8:15 in the auditorium of the Administration building. Admission, blanket tax or 50c.

Jewelry Should Set Off Eyeglasses

BE-SPECTACLED WOMEN MUST USE CAREFUL JUDGMENT IN USE OF NECKLACES, OR OTHER JEWELRY WORN CLOSE TO FACE

BY HARRIET

JEWELRY and glasses can get along together if the right rings and bracelets and beads become interested in the right glasses But if they don't, the effect is spoiled

Eyeglasses should reveal the whole eye The pupil should be in the exact center Choose metal or shell rims according to your costume Full view glasses give your eyes a chance to shine

Don't be afraid of chokers of metal or of colored stones if you are wearing your glasses correctly However, there are a few rules which should be observed First of all, don't wear anything close to your face except your glasses Other things produce too much confusion

If your evening jewelry is set with rhinestones, or your daytime ornaments contain colored stones, this rule is doubly true An inconspicuous pair of semi-precious stone or metal clips may be worn if they harmonize with your frock.

• • •

HOWEVER, there are exceptions A silk and wool frock with a high neckline can be improved by a metal choker that sits well inside but is not concealed by the neckline, even when you wear glasses The glasses themselves, full view effect, must have metal rims to harmonize. The oval shape and streamline movement will make the glass inconspicuous on the face, giving the costume a chance to get by with the choker

The in-between length of necklace, which comes just below the chest, isn't new, but it is a safe length for those who wear glasses The necklace must be away from the eyes so there is a clear line from head to waist.

The longer necklaces, which are popular this autumn may be worn, also, regardless of whether your eyes are looking at life through glasses or not.

Wear as many bracelets as you want to in the day time, but be a little more careful at evening.

If you are wearing tortoise-shell rimmed glasses, or those which have rims resembling tortoise shell, wear jewelry either of the same material or wood, or choose carnelian. Rings, bracelets and clips are much more likely to be becoming to you than necklaces, unless you use extreme judgment in your choice.

A satin afternoon frock becomes more attractive worn with a longer length necklace and a bracelet of beads The glasses disappear from the picture as the jewelry enters

If you are wearing tortoise-shell rimmed sports glasses with a knitted sports frock, a bar pin bracelet and ring, material similar to the glass rims will complete a harmonious ensemble.

The Child's First Books

No one who knows and loves children can fail to appreciate the influence that good books have upon the unfolding mind, or that vile or coarse books also have. The great problem is to create a taste for the good so strong and vital as to destroy the influence of the bad. This may be done by familarizing the child with the best writers, both ancient and modern and showing him the difference between real literature and space writing.

Listed below are some of the good books which we keep on our children's book shelves, which we invite you to examine. They are well illustrated.

ROBINSON CRUSOE
by Daniel Defoe

The greatest story of adventure ever written. 60c.

Not as good as Robinson Crusoe, but often better liked by children, probably because children occupy a prominent place in the story. $1.25.

The fun house was several aisles with hay, rickety planks, squeaky noises, moaning sounds for the women to go through before coming to the main part of the house. The slide was attached to a window and all the men and boys, fat, slim and all were compelled to slide down this. Several found it quite a difficult task. Inside there were several booths. Bridal Chamber, Galveston, Paradise and fishing pond. All these proved very much fun and excitement during the evening. The fortune telling booth found out things and also learned many. An interesting program was given, but the lights went out and the plays were cut short. After the program, games were played until a late hour. Refreshments were served. If you don't believe you would have a swell tme at one of the entertainments and enjoy one of the programs put on by Miss Hastings, you should come and see for yourself. Hereford Whitefaces Coming Friday Afternoon

ANCIENT RIVALS WILL MEET FOR CONFERENCE GAME HERE FRIDAY AT THE BUFF PARK

Next Friday at Buffalo Field two of the oldest grid rivals of the Panhandle will renew their relations. These two teams are Canyon and Hereford.

Last year Hereford defeated the Eagles 7-0 for the south sectional championship of this district. In the history of football rivalry between these two schools, Hereford has only won three games. Their victories were in '28, '29, and '31.

Coach Barksdale's Eagles did not work out Monday because of the injuries received in last Friday's games.

Of the boys who started the game against Happy only one will not play against Hereford. He is Austin Cone, Eagle right end, who received a knee injury that will probably keep him out of the games the remainder of the season.

Don't forget to pay your dimes and come to the game and root for the Eagles. Remember the time, date and place. It is 3:00 o'clock, Friday afternoon, Nov. 4, at Buffalo Stadium.

Junior-Senior Hallowe'en Party Monday Night

All the participants in the activities were effectively costumed.

When the guests arrived, they were taken to a graveyard, where they had to make a rhyme to put on the tombstone before they could leave. They were then taken to the dead man's room. After they had had their fortunes told by a witch in her den, they enjoyed a play given by some seniors. After the play, the lights went out and Lee Christine Cousins was murdered. A trial was held, in which Robert Black acted as prosecuting attorney. The audience of the play acted as jurors and convicted Ogden Stroud. After the kangaroo court, the lights were dimmed and Marvin Calliham read a ghost story.

Refreshing punch and sandwiches were served.

American Education Week

Each year, during the week of November 7-13, which includes Armistice Day, parents, teachers, children, and citizens, join in a nationwide study and tribute to our public schools.

The first and most important part of a child's training is in the home. It is here that children come to partake of their parents' ideals of health, home, learning, citizenship, leisure, vocational success, and character. In reaching these seven objectives of education the school is your strongest friend and helper. Were it not for this school, just what influences would mold the character of your child? How would he cross the transition period from simple home life to the complicated activities of life outside? Would you by yourself be willing to undertake the tasks that the school is doing?

The school looks out after the mental and physical environment of your child. Comfortable buildings, well lighted and heated classrooms, well equipped facilities for play, health examinations for prevention of contagious diseases, and all in all, an atmosphere where your child can occupy himself happily and busily for nine (9) months in the year.

The school is educating your child to be a worthy member of a home, through its study of cooking, sewing, manual training, sanitation and every day science. It is training him in music and in recreations, which will make his life happy through all its years; it is teaching him how to use tools of the mind; letters, numbers, maps, languages and books. He is learning to test and modify his conclusions, acquiring sound and regular habits of study, and in short, is learning to think.

Your child is being made a citizen through actual participation in group activities. He learns the importance of honesty and cooperation in reading his country's history; he looks at important economic and social problems; he is learning the meaning of sportsmanship, to take responsibility, and to obey established laws.

The school is giving your child the fundamental skills for all vocations: reading, writing, and mathematics, and in addition, is maintaining courses in guidance, in order to help your child to find the job in which he is most likely to succeed. In thus helping him to a place where he can do skillfully his best-loved tasks, we are pointing the way to the most lasting happiness—joy in work well done.

You are not troubled about your child when he is at work; the hours that too often bring worry are the child's leisure hours. It is these hours which we are trying to direct aright. Through fine companionship, wholesome conversation, a good library, music, and other arts, we build lives. He is encouraged to pursue constructive interests and to engage in those things which build instead of destroy.

The Public Schools more than any other one agency, have the opportunity to inculcate sound character traits, since we touch all of the people's children. We try to help the child achieve physical, mental, and spiritual fitness; the child is encouraged to do right because it is right, rather than to do right because he fears punishment. Worthy standards of living are emphasized by precept and by example. The school promotes faith and teaches reverence for God and religion.

Finally, democracy has not failed. Where it carries forward the virtues and ideals of the common people, it is strongest. No other business of its size in America is more honestly, intelligently, or efficiently managed than is America's school system. The future of democracy and the future of our common school are inseparably linked together.

"Let us set the child in our midst as our greatest wealth and our most challenging responsibility. Let us exalt him above industry, above business, above politics, and above all the petty and selfish things that weaken and destroy a people. Let us know that the race moves forward through its children and by the grace of Almighty God, setting our faces toward the morning, dedicate ourselves anew to the welfare of childhood."

Rev. McKenzie Speaks Thursday In Assembly

"How to Build a Well Rounded Life," was the subject upon which the Reverend McKenzie of the Church of Christ spoke at the chapel period, October 26.

Rev. McKenzie told the students that the two greatest character building institutions are home and school. He used many interesting illustrations to illustrate his speech.

"One of the greatest faults of humanity is having a chip on the shoulder and being sensitive," said Mr. McKenzie.

"We must all create a desire for life and strive toward that end."

The students seemed to enjoy Rev. McKenzie's talk very much.

A meeting of the student body was held Oct. 27 in order to urge the support of everyone.

Mr. Carruth told the students that it took their support as well as that of the football boys to win the Canyon-Happy game.

Mr. Terry introduced Coach Barksdale as a man who lives for boys.

"There will be eleven men out on the field fighting for Canyon High School. It will take the twelfth man, or you, to help win this game. Your part is as important as any of those eleven men," said Coach Barksdale.

Banquet For Ex-Students To Be Friday Evening

The annual ex-student banquet is to be held Friday, Nov. 4, at 7:00 o'clock at the Presbyterian church.

The toast master will be Delbert Lowes, who graduated from Canyon High School in 1926. Miss Olive Schramm, a senior of 1924, is secretary to the organization.

The banquet is expected to be one of the most successful ex-student banquets ever held.

Take Time To Complete Schooling

Recently a man outstanding in American affairs advanced as a fact the statement that an individual had reached his highest point of efficiency at forty years of age and from that time on began to go down. There were reactions to this declaration. Among others, youth began to wonder if they could afford the time for preparation. Those in middle life were disturbed with the hazards of losing their jobs.

It is unfortunate that forty seems in many cases to be the dividing line. A few of those employing help have drawn the age line at forty. However, for the man over forty there need be no more concern over his job than at any other age if he has sufficiently prepared himself to meet just such conditions. To that end, his training, his knowledge, his vision, his horizon, must be bigger than his immediate job. That is a part of an earlier training and cannot be acquired at the later age.

The forty age declaration has created much discussion at luncheons where business men assemble. The first impulse was to turn to "Who's Who," but this list has been over-worked already, and it was desirable to have figures from the immediate present.

The directorate of the United States Chamber of Commerce suggested itself. The personnel of the directorate is made up of men who have made notable contributions to leadership in industry and business. "Has-beens" are not elected to the Board of Directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Selections are made from men who are still going forward, not those who are slipping back.

The average age of the 46 directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce is fifty-seven years. The youngest director is forty, the oldest eighty-four. Only 15 per cent of the entire directorate are under fifty years of age. Fifty-two per cent are between the ages of fifty and sixty, and 33 per cent are over sixty years of age. These figures materially advance the age of highest efficiency. Probably some explanation of this showing may be attributed to the fact that 72 per cent of the directors acquired adequate educational training as young men—this training measured in the terms of present-day standards.

It would seem, therefore, that men have not reached their highest efficiency at forty; that the youth devoting his time to schooling is in line to advance his age of highest efficiency; that there is adequate time in a boy's life to acquire his schooling, leaving an abundance of opportunities ahead of him to acquire leadership in business, industry, or the professions; and that the boy who is now laying the foundation thru schooling for broadening his horizon will reduce the hazards of unemployment in later life.

With the youth having adequate time for schooling, it would seem the part of wisdom to get it while it is available. The return to school is the first step in laying a foundation for the future. In the light of these facts, parent and pupil may well reflect seriously before deciding that the latter may drop schooling. There is adequate time for training.

The best time of all to try to sing is when you don't feel like it.

Nineteen Students Make Honors First Six Weeks

Canyon High School feels like she has at least two students that deserve high honors.

Dorothy Dickenson and Jean Burgess made straight "A" cards. Dorothy is a sophomore and Jean a senior. These two classes will feel proud of these members of the class.

Although the "A" students received a great deal of honor, the people making "B" or above in all subjects should get the honor that is due. The following made "B" or above in all subjects:

Seniors: Tyson Cox, Verline Furlow, Jennie Lee Noble, Kathryn Robinson.

Juniors: Freda Charles Bills, Rosa Cash, Christine Cousins, Inez Drumond, Nell Slayton.

Freshmen: Mary McCaslin, Glen Vetesk.

Advanced "C" Club Organized By Coach Barksdale

Persons who have lettered in some school activity of Canyon High School met in room 30, October 26 to organize a "C" club. Coach Barksdale told them what he had planned for the club. He stated that the "C" club would have charge of giving the letters to persons who letter this year.

The officials elected for this year are: Austin Cone, president; Armor Lee Greenfield, vice president; and Dora Mae Plaster, secretary and treasurer.

HAPPY JACKS TAKEN INTO CAMP FRIDAY BY EAGLES IN A FAST GAME BY SCORE OF 21 TO 14

Playing one of the best and most thrilling high school games ever witnessed on the Buffalo gridiron, the Canyon Eagles defeated the hard fighting Happy Jacks 21 to 14 last Friday afternoon.

The game placed Canyon in a good position to capture the district title. This was the deciding game of this season of the district.

Happy's club was consistently outplayed in spite of the fact that their club was the heaviest. The speed and aggressiveness of the Happy backs resulted in their two scores.

If the game produced any outstanding stars there were only two. They were the entire Canyon and Happy squads. Barnard and McGehee were the most consistent ground gainers for the Jacks while Moore played a great defensive game. Of the Eagles the outstanding players were: Thomas, quarterback; Tyson Cox, left guard; Alton Brasuel, right guard; "Scoop" Elliston, left end; and Curtis Ellison, right end.

Due to the fact that each team was fighting its best and hardest, many injuries resulted. Bob Parvin, the Happy right end, was removed from the game as a result of an injured eye. Austin Cone, the Eagle right end was also removed from the game when his knee was dislocated. Johnny Wilson, Eagle half-back, received an injury and was removed from the game.

The game opened with a beautiful kick to the six yard line with Canyon receiving. The ball was returned to the nine yard strip, from where the Eagles began a 91-yard march down the field, which resulted in a touchdown exactly six minutes after the game started. Tyson Cox made an excellent place kick for extra point. Early in the second period Happy marched 75 yards for their first score. Barnard the Happy left half back crossed and scored the extra point. The Eagles scored two times in the third period. The first counter in the third quarter was made by Thomas. The second by "Scoop" Elliston, when he caught a 15-yard pass and raced 20 yards with the Happy safety hot on his heels. After each of these touchdowns, T. Cox place kicked the goals for extra point. Early in the final period, McGehee, broke through the line for seven yards and Happy's final counter. Barnard ran across for extra point.

Canyon registered 15 first downs against 12 for Happy. Canyon out played Happy the last half while the first half honors go to Happy.

WORDS

Most of us consider a word a little thing. We often say, "A little thing like that doesn't amount to much," but do we ever stop to think just what little things like words can do?

Did you ever see a person who was down and out and discouraged, comforted by a little thing like a kind word? A few words of kindness may also make a pleasant, interesting person out of one who was crabbed and disagreeable.

Many people who feel as if they are the outcasts of their community are cheered, or possibly saved from ruin, by a few kindly spoken words. One who is "soured on the world" may completely change the course of his life by speaking kind words to those with whom he comes in contact.

A word is a combination of letters used to express an idea or thought. One word is often of not much value, but think of the good that two little words can accomplish. They may mean life or death, success or ruin. They may make a person sad, or they may make a person glad to be alive. They may start our finances down the road to destruction, or they may end our financial difficulties forever. They may determine the prosperity of our country or they may mean the downfall of our government.

Let's think of the cost, price, and value of words such little things in the eyes of the world.

BUFFALOES ADVANCE IN CONFERENCE

SCORE OF 12 TO 0

Unleashing a powerful frontal attack at logical intervals, W. T.'s Thundering Herd smothered the aerial offensive of the Abilene Christians by a score of 12-0 in last Friday night's annual classic.

The night session was played in an infant norther, making ball handling uncertain. Fumbles were frequent but not costly for either side in most cases. Abilene launched a constant stream of passes while Coach "Sad Sam's" power crew worked with the crushing tank attack, proving conclusively—to the spectators at least—that the good old bone crushing power plays are still supreme. Big "Cow" Williams led the Herd in a series of sensational line drives with Brotherton, Spence, Davis and Burk taking turns at plowing the line and skirting ends.

The tale is not yet complete, however, for Abilene had a few fleet-footed ball toters on their side. One Maxwell, playing in the backfield, proved to be the chief worry of the Buffalo crew. He was fast and tricky and he had some reliable help in the shape of McKinzie, who possesses an exceedingly educated toe, and Owens, both of whom helped with their aerial attack.

The game started off with a stiff wind blowing from the north and the Buffs started with the wind to their faces. After A. C. C. made a first down on an end run and a line buck, they were held for downs and forced to kick, the ball rolling to the Buffs five. From here the Herd made four first downs in rapid succession only to have a pass intercepted. Repeated fumbles on the part or the ball handlers on both sides of the line made the game appear ragged to spectators and it was late in the second quarter before the Buffs secured their first tally, accomplished through a series of line bucks and end runs plus a tough break or two for the Wildcats. Brotherton, Spence and Williams formed the combination to put the score over, Spence scoring. Teague had hard luck on the try for extra point and the half ended with the ball near the middle of the field.

Second Half

A. C. C. opened the session with a series of passes—enough, in fact, to roll up a thousand or so yards if they had all been good—laterals, bucket passes, and the old reliable forward. The Bisons retaliated by pushing the ball to the A. C. C.'s one yard line only to fumble the ball with A. C. C. recovering it. At the opening of the fourth quarter, a pass—Burk to Fortenberry—netted the Buffs nine yards and Davis made it a first down through center with Cow Williams crashing the portal for the second count of the game and Teague failing again to kick goal for the extra point. From here on out the game progressed with jerks to a ragged wind-up with the ball in the Buffs' posession on their own twenty yard line.

The Score by quarters:

Buffs	0	6	0	6	12
A. C. C.	0	0	0	0	0

Touchdowns: Spence 1; Williams 1.

County Taxes Are Coming In at Very Satisfactory Rate

The first installment of split taxes must be paid during November, states Mr. Fry. Penalty and interest on delinquent taxes will be remitted if payment is made before December 31st of this year.

Now Is Time to Plant Sudan for Next Year's Feed

The low price of butterfat at this time makes it impossible for ordinary methods in dairying to show a profit. Only those farmers who have better than ordinary cows or very cheap feed can hope to stay in business without operating at a loss.

Short cuts to cheaper production are being practiced as never before. Two things that make for more economical production in Randall county that have been proven beyond doubt are the trench silos and sudan pastures. Most good dairymen in the county results with sudan grass because extent at least. However many farmers fail to get satisfactory results with sunad grass because of failure to get sufficient growth early in the season. A study of the methods used in the production of good sudan grass pastures is of sufficient importance for a little discussion at this time. One method that we have recommended for the past two years seems to get the job done a little better than most any scheme that we have seen tried out so far. This consists of contour listing in the fall, leaving the land rough thru the winter. The object of the contour (level) furrow is two-fold. First, to hold all moisture that comes in the winter, either as rain or melting snow, so that it will not run in the rows. Second; this moisture in the bottom of a deep furrow, will freeze and thaw during the winter. This will open the subsoil better than a subsoil plowing of the same depth. It will also put the subsoil in condition to hold moisture the following summer when the annual dry spell comes. It should be understood that the whole scheme is based on a level row so that the water will not run down the furrow. By ths method the moisture penetrates the subsoil and is held there after it is covered by the first working in the spring. Many fields that were planted to sudan grass last spring on land plowed in the spring did not get well started in the spring until the dry weather came. The fields did not hold up during the dry weather because of lack of holding capacity for moisture. The fields that were worked in the spring only, especially those worked very shallow became wet enough to "run together" pretty badly early in the summer. Then because the subsoil had not been loosened up the surface soil became hard very quickly. Every farmer knows what happens when the soil hardens after a wet spell and the rains stop entrely. On the other hand the land that was furrowed during the winter held enough reserve moisture to carry the crop through the hot dry weather to the late summer.

The time to plan next summer's pasture is right now. It is advisable to run a contour line with a farm level just as is done in terracing. The lines need not be quite so close together as is done in regular terracing however. I will be glad to assist in making a survey of any field that is to be planted in row crop following this method, in Randall county, if the work is to be done in November.

W. H. Upchurch, County Agent.

Optimism Shown In Poppy Sale November 10-11

And how odd it is that thousands who marched to the front should now lie in hospital beds, making replicas of these same poppes, which when sold, constitute their sole income.

Poppies to you, perhaps are just crumpled rosettes of crimson crepe paper to wear once a year for memory's sake; but to the man whose thick, stiff, slow-moving fingers have fashioned them they are little, bright red doors to the land of opportunity. Their scarlet petals are not mere slips of gay tissue at all, but gay flags to signal pennies into their pockets, their wee small stamins are wands to transform dragging bleak hours into hurrying, sunshiny minutes.

For each poppy a disabled soldier makes, he receives one penny, and is the one thing that brings to him the realization that he is again able to take his place as a wage earning citizen.

At three o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 10, the American Legion Auxiliary will open the Armistice Poppy Sale. "Buy a Poppy."

School Income Off 40% if Homestead Exemption Applied

Income for the Canyon Independent School district would be reduced fully 40 per cent if the $3,000 homestead exemption is adopted in the general election and it should be applied to the schools, cities and counties, stated J. W. Shanklin, Monday. "The Canyon school could not function with this amount of taxes lost," stated Mr. Shanklin.

School trustees over the state have been urged to oppose this amendment to the constitution in the general election next Tuesday owing to the danger in connection with its adoption.

While the Canyon schools have been on a cash basis so far, Mr. Shanklin is fearful for the finances the latter part of the school year. The state lacks $2 per capita of paying the apportionment of last year, and none of the apportionment for this school year will be received until after the first of January, and perhaps not until February.
